

Saeed Al Totanji

Nationality: Jordanian

Date of Birth: 16.08.1999

Architect and urban designer with experience across academic and professional practice, working at different scales from architecture to urban design. My approach is shaped by a strong interest in context, landscape, and the relationship between architecture and its surroundings. Through my studies and professional experience, I have developed a design process that combines conceptual thinking, technical knowledge, and careful attention to representation. I am particularly interested in creating architecture that responds meaningfully to place, people, and the changing conditions of the built environment.
